

Printable Truck Accident Checklist

Serving Buffalo, New York

A truck accident is a traumatic event for all of those involved. It is difficult for anyone to think logically following such an event, but the actions you take can help protect you and your family down the line if a lawsuit is necessary. To be fully prepared in case you ever are involved in a truck accident in the New York area, you can print out the checklist below and store it in your glove box.

Truck Accident Checklist

- 1.Try to remain as calm as possible.
- 2.Move your vehicle to the side of the road and put out flares or warning signs so your car does not get hit again by passing motorists.
- 3.Call an ambulance immediately if anyone has been injured.
- 4.Do not leave the scene until police show up. Ask all other parties involved and witnesses to stay at the scene as well.
- 5.Do not discuss the accident or who's fault it was with anyone except the police.
- 6.Exchange your license, registration and insurance information with the other driver(s).
- 7.Write down the name, address, truck operator license number and state, date of birth and phone number of the truck driver and all other drivers involved.
- 8.If the truck driver doesn't own the truck write down the name, address and insurance information of the truck owner.
- 9.Write down the license plate number of the truck, its make, body type and what damages it has sustained. If you happen to have a camera, take pictures of the truck and the damage to your own vehicle.
- 10.Write down all the information you can about where the accident took place. Include the street names, closest intersection, whether there were stoplights or other road signs, and any other relevant landmarks. Draw a diagram of this information to help you yourself remember and explain it to an attorney or the police in the days following the accident.
- 11.If injury to another party has occurred, ask the police to share that information with you, including names, addresses and the extent of injury.

12. Ask the police to send you a copy of the police report.

13. Call your insurance company to report the accident and then contact John Feroleto Attorneys at Law at 716-854-0700 to schedule a free consultation.
